

Precis - 2002

Title: Impacts of language on humans

Precis :

The name of human's species is Homo sapiens but many anthropologists opened man as homo faber. But author thinks that a man is faber or sapiens because of his ability to talk. A man with the absence of language can be worse than animals. Existence of high IQ and absence of the language make humans no above than animals & other creatures. Language is the way which delivers and adds knowledge. It provides all conduct of living for humans. Perhaps, language turned humans into civilization.