Pakistan is a federal state comprising of multipolitical parties system with autonomous provincial powers under 18th ammendment granted. Since, its inception, multi-political parties system were introduced comprising of nationalists i.e. those who are having influence at larger scale and regional i.e. limited to ascribed geo-politics. Both of the categories are having influence in the Political affairs of Pakistan.

11 Role of regional political parties in Pakistan:

There are many regional political parties in Pakistan, mainly of these are:

- ① Muttahida Qaumi Movement (MQM)
- ② Awami National Party (ANP)
- ③ Balochistan Awami Party (BAP)
- ④ Qaumi Watan Party (QWP)

⑤ Representation of each multi-ethnicities in Pakistan

Regional political parties are basically representing their ethnic group.

For instance, MQM supports the Muhajirs (those refugees in times of partition).

They play their role and politics for the prosperity, development of their ethnic groups whose are the hard supporters.

② Solving the disputes at their minimal level in consideration with nationalist Courts in power.

The main role of the regional political parties is to solve the disputes as a front head with the government support in federal. For instance, in the wake of Pak-Afghan border, Pakistan has shown its readiness and representation for bi-lateral discussions including the regional political parties. It has a major role in solving disputes as they are more aware of their own regional Politics.

* Role of nationalist parties in Pakistan:

The nationalist political parties are representing the all regions and dimensions of Pakistan. They are not limited to a disproportionate region and are scattered on massive level across Pakistan.

Mainly it includes:

- ① Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI)
 - ② Pakistan Muslim League (N)
 - ③ Pakistan People Party (PPP)
- ④ Nationalist parties are defendants of the democratic system:

The nationalist political parties have a

Clear vision and ideology
 with a team of
 technocrats to run the state affairs. They mainly enhance and amend
 the political charters
 to bring cohesion among
 the provinces.
 In 1973, under 13th amendment the provincial autonomy was granted, increasing shares

 of the eye-witnessed
 rules of Nationalists.

(20) Directing the economic policies and diplomacy
 of Pakistan:

The nationalist
 political parties majorly
 source in federal with central over country's policies. The economic policies

and diplomacy lies mainly under their control. Each nationalist political party under reign modify the
 predecessor's policies
 towards economy, national-security and geo-strategic positions under the light
 of existing challenges.

 Necessity of regional and nationalist political parties
 for the political system:

① Regional political parties as
 barrier to the wrong
 moves of nationalists:

Regional political parties acts as a barrier
 to the unbeneficial moves
 of the nationalist political parties, affecting the sentiments of specified region. It provides no

edge for the nationalist parties to have supremacy over the existential resources.

②: Coalition governments for the socio-economic development.

The nationalist political parties "under the situation in shortage of electoral votes" can form coalition government with the required political parties.

The regional political parties see it as an opportunity for the development of its regional zones. It strengthens the cohesion and essence of unity among the diverse ethnic groups of Pakistan. It intends provide an opportunity of national representation.

Conclusion:

In the political progress of Pakistan, both regional and nationalist political parties have a major stake. Both have to converge for the national interest of Pakistan with collaboration and mutual partnership.

It can strengthen the national cohesion, portraying the image of unity and can tackle the multi-colored challenges to Pakistan.
