

Precis - 2002

Title: Impacts of language on humans

Precis :

The name of <sup>human</sup> human's species is homo sapiens but many anthropologists <sup>regard</sup> ~~opined~~ man as homo faber. But <sup>the</sup> author thinks that a man is faber or sapiens because of his ability to talk. A man ~~with the absence of language~~ <sup>without</sup> ~~Existence~~ can be worse than animals. Existence of high I.Q and absence of the language make humans no above than animals & other creatures. Language is the way which delivers and adds knowledge. It provides all conduct of living for humans. Perhaps, language turned humans into ~~civilization~~ <sup>civilized beings</sup>.

Write it in full form when introducing it for the first time.

Idea ok but spelling and structural mistakes. Choice of words can be improved.