

Education is basic building block of character

WORK ON REF

Outline

1. Introduction

Thesis Statement: Education is a mean to reach to the height of glory by building nation's character in splendid way. Educational famine in Pakistan has corroded the individual character, and added fuel to the fire of unbridled crisis. However, certain pragmatic measures can be helpful to ensure quality based education for character building of lamenting nation.

2. Nexus between Education and Nation's character

3. Education is basic building block of character

- Inculcates tolerance among masses.
- Curbs manners of black social taboos regarding gender inequality.
- Institutionalizes morality among citizens of a state.
- Road to the rise of self-discipline.
- Creates confidence to individual which leads to productivity.
- Creative soul is spawned by

Quality based education.
b- Mitigates sinister of extremism among youth.

4. Reforming Educational System to Strengthen Nation's Character

- Ensuring education for all the citizens of Pakistan
- Reforming content of seminaries
- Re-structuring educational mills to ensure quality based education for all.
- Re-defining heroes and history.

5. Conclusion

"Let us remember. One pen, one book, one child and one teacher can change the world". Mahatma Ghandi Zai Education has potential to write destiny of nations. It is basic building block of character that let the nations to soar at the height of glory. It is a mean to bring socio-economic prosperity by building nation's character in splendid way. Educational reform in Pakistan has corroded the individual character, and added fuel to the fire of unbridled crisis. However, certain pragmatic measures can be helpful to ensure quality based education to build nation's character and put it on the road of prosperity. There are close links between rate of character building and education. Education brings gargantuan changes in individual's character and raise a respectable nation. Education inculcates tolerance among masses which is main pillar of positive character. Besides this, it curbs mantras of breaking social taboos regarding gender inequality, over and above, education is a mean to institutionalize morality among masses. Moreover, it paves the ways for the growth of self-discipline. Further more, it gives confidence to an individual to strengthen his/her character along with these, a creative soul is spawned by quality based education. In addition to these benefits, education helps to curb the mantras of extremism and build a nation with positive character. However, educational system of Pakistan is a country of multiple cultures which have the character building of nation. There is quite need of time to bring some reforms in educational system of Pakistan to pave the way for nation's character building. First of all, education must be ensured for all citizens of Pakistan. Besides this, there is sheer need to reform content of religious seminaries of Pakistan. Furthermore, concept of educational mills should be encourage to ensure quality based education for all. Last but not the least, there is need to redefine history and heroes to build character of nation in marvelous ways.

Role of education in character building is undeniable. It is not possible to have a positive character of any nation without education. Education can be defined as most important tool to re-write destiny of any nation by building its character. Prosperous nation all around the world have marvelous character, but it has been descendant by the excellent educational system of those states. Nations with good character leave unremovable scars on the world history.

They rule the world in splendid way. On the other hand, merely marooned and feeble nation with poor character remain in ambit of decay; like polarization, extremism, etc. Daron Acemoglu says in his book "Why Nations fail" that one of the major reasons behind the fall of the nation is poor educational system. It leads to poor character building that hampers socio-economic development of states.

Education is a basic building block of character. It polishes nation's character in multiple ways.
First of all, it inculcates tolerance among masses which is first and most important attribute of good character.
Educated societies have tolerance to swallow diversity in ideas and opinions. This Tolerance removes polarization among masses. and paves way for proliferation of integration. Malin of Pakistan is clothed with poor character which has proliferated a number of curses in the Society; like extremism, intolerance, etc. as defined by Stephen P. Cohen in his book, "Pakistan manifest destiny". He says that it is the paralysed education system behind the intolerant nation. So, quality based education can be helpful to mitigate sinister of intolerance and proliferate peace among masses.

Besides this, education has potential to curb menaces of bleak social taboos from the society, thus raise nation with remarkable character.
Quality based education broadens mindset of people and make them to accept female as equal and important part of nation. It helps to erase patriarchal ties from one's character. For example, Pakistan is ranked at 145 in global gender gap index report 2021. Major cause is poor and quantity based educational system of Pakistan.

The situation is worse in mountainous areas where girls are not allowed to step out of home owing to patriarchy. Their right of education is taken away by fundamental and staunch theologians as says by Maqsood in her book, "I am Maqsood".

Thus, nation devoid of good educational system suffers with gender gap. This can be mitigated only by education.

Over and above, education institutionalize morality among masses to strengthen their character.
Education makes nations morally rich. Morality leads to an honest nation where national interests or priorities over personal interests. It strengthens nation's character, and put it on the track of glory. ~~Dr. Durant~~ Durand has said in his book, "The Story of Civilization" that "No nation can be conquered from outside until at weakened itself from within" Morality in state has weak foundation which can be shattered by a little scheme of outer forces. Education is a mean to political morality in people's character, and thus curb a number of vices from the society.

Moreover, education gives confidence to an individual which helps to increase higher productivity. Confident souls are building blocks of nation's prosperity. Confidence is one of the most important ingredients of one's character which is inculcated by the quality based education. Singapore, which once was a poor state, is now an industrialist state. This change became possible owing to reforms in educational system of Singapore. Education confidence and skills gap people and increased to the productivity. They were able to invest with more productivity in nation's development, says by W. C. Huff in his book, "The Economic Growth of Singapore". So, Confident nations are enable to bring peace and prosperity in States, but this confident in nation's character is impressed only by quality based education.

Furthermore,
education makes people well-disciplined which is important for their strong character building.
Self-discipline and self-control are sheerly important pillars to build a strong character. Self-disciplined nations bring competitive advantages for their States. For example, China has a self-well-disciplined nation. This discipline hinders people to commit any wrong deed, and encourages them to live a sustainable life. That is why, 1.45 billion population has brought success in every sector for the State. On the other hand, poor educational system of Pakistan is failed to produce a well-disciplined nation.
So, only 270 million people have become a burden for the state. Here, quality based education system is the first and foremost need to produce a well-disciplined nation.

Education system of Pakistan is bogged in the cliches of multiple courses which hinder character building of nation. There is acute need to bring some reforms in education sector of Pakistan to make it enable to build the nation's character in splendid way. First of all, there is acute need to ensure education for all the citizens of Pakistan. Education is the individual's constitutional right.

Bestowing some people with quality based education while depriving others hinders character building of whole nation.

"There are 2.5 million out of school children in Pakistan", UNICEF. "3.4 million children are being exploited by recent flood", World Bank. The nation would remain in the orbit of poor and people character if

A large portion of it remain uneducated, as stated by Stephen P. Cohen in "Pakistan: Manifest destiny". So quality based education for all should be ensured by state for character building of the nation.

Besides this, there is need to reform content and syllabus of seminaries. Almost 3.5 million children of Pakistan are admitted in religious educational institutes. The education imparted by madrasahs is not enough to develop nation with strong and positive character. One of the major reasons behind the extremist youth in Pakistan is educational content of seminaries. Says by Mehdi Jafar in "Pakistan under the Siege" students of madrasahs are more violent and extremist. They hinder and oppose any change or liberal development owing to their narrow mindset. Hales in their character stain the character of whole nation. That is why, their is need to reform educational content of Seminars, and bring them under the control and supervision of State

Along with these structure of educational institutions Pakistan should be redefined in order to build nation's character in splendid way.

Educational institutes of Pakistan have become industrial with sole purpose of generating money. It has become a most profitable business in Pakistan. Ironically, such elite schools impart brand and standard rather than quality based education. Recent incident of bullying in an elite school of Lahore is enough to depict harsh and bleak side of these educational mills. Besides this horrified murder of Mashal Khan in Abdul Wali Khan University also depicts the institutionalization of extremism in the elite.

Educational institutes as stated by M. Qasim in his publication "Beyond Violence: Impacts of extremism in the community" 2020

There is need to take reign of these institutions by government and make them occasions for bullying and spreading extremism.

Last but not the least, heroes and history need to be redefined for strong character building of nation.
Along with Muhammad Bin Qasim and Piruz Bin Ziyad, Abdul Sattar,

Dr. Abdul Qadir Khan and Jemal economist, Mehboob-ul-Haq name should also be added in context. This would be helpful to shed light on the services of Pakistan's great scientist, economist or social workers. Moreover, it would inspire children and they might be consider them as their role model.

Only that part of history is deliberately added in historical pages of books that suits best for political gain, Pakistan under the reign, Makhdoom Afzal. She says that educational context is defined and set by politicians to motivate the mindset of nation according to their own will and self-interest. This is need of hour to redefine history and heroes in curriculum to strengthen the character of nation.

kill one terrorist, but a book has the potential to kill terrorism. Nations with strong character bring socio-economic prosperity and hinder external forces to interfere into the states' personal matters.

They are the safeguards of their territory and values, but a strong character is bound in gratitude for to education. Education is building bloc of character.

It uplifts nation's moral values and strengthens their character.

Such nations can not be defeated or invaded by external forces.

They have potential to reach to the height of glory. Intolerance or extremism cannot proliferates in states having nation with strong character.

Peace and prosperity is the destiny of their states. Pakistan is going through the educational famine where millions of children are working in factories at the

The age of going to school. Private schools have become educational mills and madrassahs are inculcating extremism. Public schools are not enable to build the nation's character. That is why, clouds of bleak curse are hovering over the Pakistan. There is acute need to reform educational institutes in Pakistan to make them enable to strengthen nation's character; otherwise, unfortunate would be its eternal fate.