

Precis:Mortality and Importance of Love in Human Life

All men are mortal. Life ends at any time. Men, however, still in search to get the answer of the "mysteries of the world" to reduce the harshness of the life, if death is necessary. If human beings were aware that they would not die then there will be no concept of love and affection. A man can have a love for materialistic things, but the feelings he has for his family is unbeatable. Hence, it is the fear of death that men's love and affection increased for his family.

Original words: 267
Precis words: 89

X ————— X

Time: 45 minutes.