Title:

Manto As a Realist

Manto was a contradictory to the society's norms which consists of self piety, hypocrisy and mental illness. His opponents showed his writing as vulgarity and put litigation on his writings. However, he did not take it serious and showed the realities. In the words of Freud, writer says that sex is not an abstract, yet it has practical impacts. Furthermore, he addressed the issues of poor and prostitutes. writer believed that man are combination of good and bad habits. Through his writing he showed the reality of the society. He openly showed the frailt weakness of humans. Moreover, like Joyce, Lawrence and Caldwell, Manto also pointed out that men and women search their restlessness accordly. Likewise others Manto was "raised above self sublime enthusiasm".
