

Precis - 2023

There are three chief beliefs regarding freedom in education. The third school of (people) thought prefers that children should always be good despite freedom. This belief also holds education a mere source of immediate development. The writer disagrees with this thought rendering it the remains of Rousseauism that cannot survive/ thrive an analysis of animals and babies. According to the author, this belief is deviant and apathetic towards the knowledge. Additionally, all the required coordination in a community would be impossible with only instinctive impulse. The success, which is the result of custody, self-discipline and well-managed knowledge, cannot be achieved in an unchecked environment. Education, according to the writer, should offer intellectual and ethical apparatus besides a simple growth for children.

Title: Freedom in Education: A ~~as~~ moral and mental tool

Words in Original Paragraph = 300
Words in Precis = 119

Note

: Dear Sir/Ma'am! Kindly guide me to write precis efficiently. It's my third attempt of writing this precis still difficult.

Comprehension-2022

Question 1:

According to the author, civil society involves gathering of different individuals of that society spending time in conversations based on common interests. Civil society refers to a place of solidarity and compassion followed by participation in public policy, environmental protection or politics. All this interaction of civil society fosters more valid form of citizenship.

Question 2:

Civil society strives towards better socialization driven by tolerance due to mutual interests. Individuals in the civil society look for the strategies that will not intimidate the solidarity of the group. Furthermore, as civil society tolerate each other's differences, it becomes a catalyst in increasing multiculturalism. That is the reason why society th endeavors to better socialization driven by tolerance.

Question 3:

Social Capital, in the above context, is defined as social trust and mutual obligation which makes society function effectively. Political scientists and sociologists are the civil society that is focusing on the importance and necessity of social capital. So, in this passage I understood this term 'social capital' as that key relation in society that is indispensable for its survival.

Question 4:

A civil society assumes the role of public stake holder because gathering together in an association or a group, people begin to consider their private interest as public interest. In this way, civil society tries to make sure that this public collective interest is secured and protected. This is how a civil society considers the role of public stake holder.

Question 5:

There are various bad (effects) impacts feared by the weakening of civil society. Chief among these impacts is that political institutions will function inefficiently. Also, the feeble civil society leads to less trust and less social connection. In the end, less associations among citizens leads to lack of effectiveness in public opinion.