

Stressfull experience of island

On my second journey to ^{the} sea with a merchant, we landed on an island, having attractive scenaries. According to author all his companions start different activities of their leisure. In contrast, author took some wine and slept. On his awakesness he found himself alone on island, ship was gone and it was stressfull situation for him. In such circumstances, author saw something enormous, which he felt a dome on his first sight. At dawn a massive big bird called "roc" arrived and sit on it, it was hex egg.
