

Comprehension - 2004

Question 1:

What is the difference between our life and the life of an animal?

Answer:

There is a contrast between the sorrows of human life and the joyous life of an animal. Humans are always in an agony and regret which never allows them to live in the moment while animals live in the time and makes the time blissful.

Question 2:

What is the result of human anxiety?

Answer:

The illusions created by the human anxiety always results in the heavy-hearts, and fearfulness. It also disturbs the future of an individual and their heirs.

Question 3:

How does the writer compare man to the butterflies and squirrels?

Answer:

The writer compares man to the butterflies and squirrels as these creatures are free and fearless regarding their future and live their life happily, while <sup>they</sup> enjoy every moment in life. On the <sup>opposite</sup> other side, humans can also become fearless and live in the moment if they eliminate the worries of their lives.

Question 4

How does anxiety about future disturb our daily life?

Answer:

The anxiety of unseen future disturbs the present life of an individual. One can neither enjoy nice breakfast and peaceful morning walk nor can get the pleasure of changing seasons. The haunting present leads to the foreboding and repentence of future.

Question 5

How can we make our life tolerable?

Answer:

~~One~~ <sup>we</sup> can make our lives tolerable by not prolonging the misfortunes and diverting our minds to the positive sides of the life.

Question 6

Explain the underlined words.

1. Pine for = want / desire for something which is not present.
2. Attributes = qualities or states of mind.
3. Foreboding = Fearfulness of the events which are not going to happen.
4. human obsessions = The things which attracts the human nature.
5. Untroubled by vain yearning = not worrying for any kind of desire.