

⇒ An Analysis on Population day.
World Population day.

The world is observing population day. There are certain issues regarding population. The developed nations such as Japan, South Korea and other European countries, where birth and death rates are low. These countries are running short of working individuals, because there is lack of youth force on account of one child scheme. On the other hand developing countries, for instance Pakistan, Afghanistan and India where the population growth is at peak. These countries are facing severe food crises, educating and maintaining a healthy nation.

Therefore a comprehensive and a complete strategy is needed to deal with the population issue. As such Pakistan should not follow one - scheme child, for it will face a shortage of individual force in next days. Nor the state should increase the population to face different crisis in future. Hence, the state should follow a moderate plane, where the rights must not be violated, nor the population is severely increased.

There is no need the state must take a stance to curtail the growing population itself. It should involve the provincial governments, the community members as well as the clergies.

The state must ensure the religious concerns regarding growing population. As such Iran, Saudi Arabia and Bangladesh reduced their population to a sustainable limit. Further, the women should be given awareness about family planning, and government must provide medicines for contraceptives, and aware them a gap is needed between children birth for a healthy mother. It is also necessary that children would not face a food crisis. These are few measures to shorten the population growth where Pakistan will not face severe challenges to deal the issue.
