English Precise & Composition - 2016

Translation of Urdu into English:

Common People is of the view that law and freedom in a country are opposite to each other. Apparently this seems not to be wrong, because every law imposed some sanctions on citizens. If there are more Jurisprudence in a country, then collectively Sanctions will also be greater in number. Freedom of an individual is badly affected by more limitations. Apart from this, the citizens enjoy their freedom, if the number of Jurisprudence are less in number.
