

(Final Draft). War and the Decline of Civilizations

War has been the primary cause of civilizations' destruction, as per the historical account of warfare. The reason on being the existing reality of war is that it has been a sole way to its causing agents to accomplish their goals which they could not have ~~made~~<sup>achieved</sup> otherwise. And the suffering and chaos outraged owing to warfare bluntly outweighs the financial costs any society (civilization) can witness. On the other hand, efforts have been made to minimize the chances of war either via state leadless or via citizenry. However, the peace strategy mechanism to halt the cult of war remains the only viable option for societies.

Original Words: 480

Precis: 108