

Precis CSS 2010

Title:

Envy — A cause of Unhappiness

Envy is the most adverse characteristic of human nature. A person with this feature always seems unhappy. He has a sort of jealousy for what others have and he does not possess. He desires to depose such people from their amenities and wishes to acquire them. He has no answers for why people have different qualities and advantages in this world. Contrary to hatred, there is a quality of admiration which is a tool to increase happiness in life. Hence, by focusing on the real causes of envious nature, treatment can be done.

Word Count: 330

Precis: 93