

CSS Precise 2010

The most unfortunate thing in human nature is envy that makes a person unhappy. An envious person does not enjoy his blessings he has and always feel unhappy about things others have. He want to deprive others and ^{always} want that advantages for him. Author ^{raises} asks various question that why someone suffers and at the same time others enjoys. Envy cannot justify it. Humans want to be admired. It give them happiness and help to destroy envious feelings. Saints ~~can~~ cure envy by selflessness. However an ordinary person can fight envy by happiness but envy itself is an obstacle for happiness. Envious person does not consider it a good cure because they believe that one cannot be happy with envious feelings and then to destroy them to get happiness. However, the only realizing causes of envy is a great step to ~~learn~~ get rid of it.

Title : Feelings of an Envious
Person and its Cure