

~~Title:~~ Self-knowledge is the Base of Effective Relationships title is not written as sentence it is 4 5 words catchy phrase this line is unclear and makes no sense

People try to make interactions smooth with personality traits and skills but the imperative is self-realization and self-control. Some opine that one should like oneself before others; this statement carries weight but liking oneself is not possible without self-knowledge and self-discipline. Independence is the foundation of interdependence without independence we may not be able to sustain our relations. For effective interdependence you have picked the idea but you are unable to explain in your own words ence, the relations should be based on character and not personality, words and actions are not important in relationships but what we are. There are many traits that can make interactions better: one should be true, natural and independent. Before beginning any relationship, one should work on oneself and character.
