Q.1 Write a Precis of the following passage and suggest a suitable title: (20+5=25)

It is no doubt true that we cannot go through, life without sorrow. There can be no sunshine without shade. We must not complain that roses have thorns, but rather to grateful that thorns bear flowers. Our existence here is so complex that we must expect much sorrow and much suffering. Many people distress and torment themselves about the mystery of existence. But although a good man may at times be angry with the world, it is certain that no man was ever discontented with the world who did his duty in it. The world is a looking glass; if you smile, it smiles, if you frown, it frowns back. If you look at it through red glass, all seems red and rose, if through blue, all blue; if through a smoked one, all dull and dingy. Always try' then to look at the bright side of things; almost everything in the world has a bright side. There are some persons whose smile, the sound of whose voice, whose very presence seems like a ray of sunshine and brightness a whole presence seems like a ray of sunshine and brightness a whole room. Greet everybody with a bright smile, kind words and a pleasant welcome. It is not enough to love those who are near and dear to us. We must show that we do so. While however, we should be grateful, and enjoy to the full the innumerable blessings of life, we cannot expect to have sorrows and anxieties. Life has been described as a comedy to those who think, and tragedy to those who feel. It is indeed a tragedy at times and comedy very often, but as a rule, it is what we choose to make it. No evil, said Socrates, can happen to a good man, either in life and Death,

Precis:-

Life is full of sorrows and sufferings. There is no achievement happiness without difficulties. Anyone who does his duty honestly can get angry at the world sometimes. But, it depends on the mirror through which one is looking at. There is always a brighter side of everything. It is just not enough to treat one's own loved ones with kindness, but treat everyone with big smile and kind words. One should always be grateful to the blessings, he is bestowed upon. Life is sometimes easy and sometimes hard. It is the way one is perceiving it. If one's intentions are good, no evil can ever happen to him. (90 words)
