

Precis - 2002.

Title: Language evolved Humanity.

Precis:

Language gave birth to the humanity which resulted in the beginning of civilizations, in the World. It is the baseline which differentiate humans from other species. So, a man is different because he can communicate in a specified way. Language is a tool which makes it possible to accumulate knowledge and to spread information. ^{The} ~~the~~ achievements attained by the humanity in every sphere of life were all due to the possession of language.

incorrect interpretation

→ This means that having intelligence can not only differentiate humans from other species.

Precis word count is ~~85~~ 87.

- main idea is picked but the expression is weak
- poor presentation
- word count is written in a sentence form with original words too
- need improvement in relevance and clarity
- basic grammar needs to be improved
- over all average precise 5/20

W.T.W