Laziness, a Blessing in Disguise

People who do not act rightly at the right time cause disorderness in this world. It is the Satan who always remains busy without wasting a single moment of time. The world is mixed up but it is not due to laziness, ~~it~~ it lacks kind acts. The world is energetic but in wrong direction. World could have been better if important ^{people} had enjoyed free time and weather in 1914, instead of strong desire of not wasting time. Things could have been better if the politicians had enjoyed some leisure time at hill station before going to Versailles with evil notions. Even today, things can get better if half of the European politicians do not consider sluggishness as a crime and enjoy free time. Things can still get better if religious clerics abandon holding useless meetings to discuss irrelevant things and ~~improve~~ enjoy the nature and improve their health.
