

Comprehension

Questions

1- The human beings' fear of death is different from the childrens' fear of darkness in a way that they become affraid of by listening the stories though which a man, at the time of death, passes through the painful events, whereas, children have fear of darkness because of listening the terror tales of ~~with~~ witches and robbers.

2- When humans percieve death as a inspection of their bad deeds and have view that it is a transition to another world, it is regarded as religious and sacred view of death.

3- Monks has described the painful experiences in his their books that after death, one has to bear bodily mal-treatment in order to get himself clean.

4- Seneca has views that people do not get affraid of death but get frightened by the death rituals.

5- A man, who is near to die, hears fearful mourns all his arround, views his body going through much pains and his pale face, ~~watches~~ ^{Moreover,} His relatives ^{start} crying at his death. which makes death more horrible than it would be otherwise.