

Q. 2. Write a précis of the following and suggest a suitable title: (20)

Nizar Hassan was born in 1960 and raised in the village of Mashhad, near Nazareth, where he has lived with his family. He studied anthropology at Haifa University and after graduating worked in TV. Starting in 1990, he turned to cinema. In 1994, he produced Independence, in which he pokes his Palestinian interlocutors about what they think of the bizarre Israeli notion of their “independence”. They have stolen another people’s homeland and call the act “independence”! Hassan dwells on that absurdity. As the world’s attention was captured by the news of Israel planning to “annex” yet a bit more of Palestine and add it to what they have already stolen, I received an email from Nizar Hassan, the pre-eminent Palestinian documentary filmmaker. He wrote to me about his latest film, My Grandfather’s Path, and included a link to the director’s cut. It was a blessing. They say choose your enemies carefully for you would end up like them. The same goes for those opposing Zionist settler colonialists. If you are too incensed and angered by their daily dose of claptrap, the vulgarity of their armed robbery of Palestine, you would soon become like them and forget yourself and what beautiful ideas, ideals, and aspirations once animated your highest dreams. Never fall into that trap. For decades, aspects of Palestinian and world cinema, art, poetry, fiction, and drama have done for me precisely that: saved me from that trap. They have constantly reminded me what all our politics are about – a moment of poetic salvation from it all. Nizar Hassan’s new documentary is one such work – in a moment of dejection over Israel’s encroachment on Palestinian rights and the world’s complicity, it has put Palestine in perspective. The film is mercifully long, beautifully paced and patient, a masterfully crafted work of art – a Palestinian’s epic ode to his homeland. A shorter version of My Grandfather’s Path has been broadcast on Al Jazeera Arabic in three parts, but it must be seen in its entirety, in one go. It is a pilgrimage that must not be interrupted.

Title: Nizay Hassan's work

Nizay Hassan born in Mishhad in 1960. After the graduation from Haifa University, he joined T.V. In 1994, he produced 'Independance' documentary in which he criticized Israel's Independance concept. As Israel was planning to annexation of pal Palestine, author received an email about his latest work. Nizay Hassan advises those who are confronting with Israeli forces, not to react violently because they want to distract ~~from~~ Palestinian from their sacred goals. He shows Israeli brutal behaviour toward innocent Palestinian. His work is absolutely excellent and attractive. His work has been broadcast on Aljazeera but people must watch it completely to understand ~~the~~<sup>his</sup> message. Author shows his gratification to such type of artistic work and platforms who saved him from Israeli trap and remained him about his political value.