Revolving the Problem of Population

Modern - sociology ignores problem of population. Despite of natural ~~res~~ disaster, there is no self-perceived strategy to control the population pressure. As population advancement is to be felt, people will voluntarily restrict the equality between death rate and new birth. The failing of the population pressure will be burden on country resources. Although this issue is worse; population politicians donot address it properly because they afraid of losing votes, and Businessmen ~~are~~ are in the favour of surplus of people to produce more commoalities. Moreover, revolutionists and religious clergy opposed and ignored remedy of such social evil. In fact, aspiration makes revolutions in the history. Therefore, state should be resolved and regulated population quantitatively and qualitatively, and it also makes the possibility of maintainess of this issue.
