

There are many solutions for the current economic and political crises but the most prominent of these is the timely election. On time election are beneficial for the democracy and the constitution of the state.

A new civilian government can prove better option than the current coalition government in many ways. For example, a new government ~~which~~ will be able to take long term decisions and will gain the trust of the foreign investors and institutions. Therefore, a new democratic government can bring prosperity for ~~the~~ ~~for~~ Pakistan in all domains.