Rough Draft:

devotee = ardent follower.

There are many advocater of co-curricular activities in school and they consider sports as a religion. While other peoples ~~no~~ profess that sports does not deliver the goods. On factual basis sports ~~does not~~ does not effect the character of students, in a sense that vice play games viciely and virtue plays virtuously. so, ~~sports~~ by supporting compulsory games then it be for right reasons.

Solution:

Games are beneficial for students in their growing ages. According to some advocater; games enhance sportsmen spirit. While besides them someone highlights that games failed to produce sportmen. On factual basis games doesnot effect the character rather it is played accordingly; vice plays viciely, virtue plays virtuously. Therefore compulsory games are for a right reasons.
