

but not implemented

Many of the fundamental rights are included in our constitution for example, Education related law in which it is mentioned clearly that Government is bound to provide free education to the children under age of 4-16 years. In Constitution it is also mandatory for the Government to adopt certain effective policies which reduce number of out of school children. According to HREC report: In Pakistan over 12 millions children are engaged in labours. According to UNESCO's latest published figures suggest: Pakistan has the second highest numbers of out of school children globally after Nigeria. How a country prosper where huge number of children remains out side of the schools. The education system of a country represents how the prosperity of that country.