~~INT~~ Impact of inflation on Education systems in Pakistan:

Inflation has severely affected educational system of Pakistan.

Since new government assumed charge, inflation has been jacking up.

In the country, education is one of affected factors due to high inflation rate.

According to Pakistan Economic Survey, last year Pakistan's inflation rate was 11 percent and now its inflation rate is 29 percent.

In fact, Inflation damaged the both sides.

On the one side, parents - whose children are taking education - have been collapsed their purchasing power.

On the other hand, prices of stationary and paper has also skyrocketed.

Therefore, a lot of students have left the school, because their parents can ~~are~~ not afford their educational expenses. Worryingly, as per world bank, Pakistan's poverty rate is 37.2 percent, so it is difficult for poor people to enroll their children in schools. To sum up, there is a huge impact of inflation on the education system in Pakistan.
