

Can online education totally replace traditional form of education?

Traditional form of education is the best physical learning process. In fact, traditional form of education is the most likeable in today's world, due to physical interaction learning environment, observance of physical exchange of ideas and material co-operation. Thus, traditional form of education can not be totally replaced by online education.

Child marriage: A serious human rights violation

Child marriage is the violation of child rights by child marriages at early stage. Further, it impacts

It is prevailing due to the poor socio-economic conditions such as, inflation, poverty, unemployment etc. Resultantly, child marriage impacts human rights including education, health, labour etc. Therefore, remedial measures must be taken to address the issue of child marriage.