

Punctuation

1. The human mind is never stationary; it advances or it retrogrades.
2. The laws of most countries today are split into two kinds: criminal law, and civil law.
3. The announcer called out the four winning numbers as follows: three, twelve, twenty-two, and fifty-six.
4. My favourite quotation was found on a slip of paper in a hotel room: "Friendship is like a baked potato. It is best when it's kept warm."
5. They had played together in infancy; they had worked together in manhood; they were now tottering about and gossiping away in the evening of life; and in a short time they will probably be buried together in the neighbouring ^{churchyard.}

My Favourite Subject

Political Science is my favourite subject. Through this subject I introduce with amazing philosopher and their theories. This subject help me to understand goverance, policies, and how power is exercise within a society. I can read this subject hour and hour without getting tire.

Negative sentences:

- * Political science is not my favourite subject.
- * Through this subject I don't introduce with amazing philosopher and their theories.
- * This subject don't help me to understand goverance, policies, and how power is exercise within a society.
- * I can't read this subject hour and hour without getting tire.

Interrogative sentences:

- * Is political science my favourite subject?
 - * Do. this subject introduce me with amazing philosopher and their theories?
 - * Do this subject help me to understand goverance, policies, and how power is exercise within a society?
 - * Can i read this subject hour and hour without getting to tire?
-

Why i want to be a CSP officer?

I want to be a CSP officer to serve people of my country. By achieving this position i can help and bring a positive change in the lives of people who are in need. Being a CSP officer i can make policies for welfare of people. I believe i have the ability to influence improvement in society.

Along with responsibilities, this work will enable me to find employment on my own. Lastly i want to inspire others to work hard and join central superior services.