Précis

Though money is important but it is not always the primary objective of any mentally sound man like healthy people who love their dinner but it is not their primary aim. Same goes for a good soldier and clergymen, the former prioritize to win battle first than his pay and the latter does not necessarily baptize and preach just to be paid. So, of doctors, ~~And~~ this who prefer patient's life over money. And, this is true for all the brave men of other professions, who give more importance to their work not money.
