Subheading: Nuclear Challenge to World Peace during the 21st century. (100-120 paragraph)

One of the greatest challenges to the world peace in 21st century is nuclear challenge. There are other global issues like climate change; however, nuclear challenge is far more destructive than CO₂.

For instance, the Ukraine war is the first conventional war fought since WWII in Europe under the shadow of nuclear threats; (belfercenter.org, The Role of Nuclear Weapons in the 21st Century, 2022). The Russian Federation has the largest nuclear arsenal globally, and its nuclear doctrine envisages the possibility of using nuclear weapons first for its enemies. India, Pakistan and Israel have already joined the five original nuclear powers. North Korea has thumbd its nose at the NPT, Iran may or may not be preparing to follow suit. Confronting the nuclear challenge is not a matter of choice but necessity. For ensuring world peace, nuclear disarmament and non-proliferation are pre-requisites, by involving peace-ensuring world organization as observers and guarantors. In the end, the world in 21st century needs to bring into force the comprehensive Test Ban Treaty to put a full stop to nuclearization.
