

Subheading: Iran and KSA have decided to leave their old ways of confrontation to achieve their interests

Iran and KSA have decided to leave their old ways of confrontation to achieve their interests in the world. Presently, they want to work hand-in-hand. The bad experience of fight has made them realise that by confronting each other they can hardly achieve their purpose. Thus, dialogues are the only solution to progress in the region and beyond. In this regard, on March 11, 2023, they both signed a rapprochement to work in harmony. This dialogue has been facilitated by Chinese president Xi Jinping (Mustafa Sayed, 'Xi's masterstroke', March 2023). Given all that, to ensure their national interests, Iran and KSA has started a new journey of friendship with the assistance of China.
