1) Having objective better than money.

It is physically impossible for professional people to earn money.

The chief main aim is to make dinner. Likewise, every healthy individual lives dinner; but his main aim is not dinner. Contrarily, some healthy minded people love to earn money and enjoy winning it. Nevertheless,

The clergyman's aim is crucial to preach not to be paid for it.

Similarly, a good doctor's core objective is to ~~get~~ treat his patient first and then take his fees.

Therefore, all other professional men's work is first and second is their fee.
