

Women universities as agents of change

1- Introduction

2- Historical view of women universities as an agent of change.

3- Women universities an agent of social and educational changes.

a. Breaking social stigma and taboo.

b. Contributing extensively in modern research and development.

c. Ensuring high quality ^{women} education standard and high enrollment.

4- A hub of economic growth

a. Imparting skill development: Bangladesh a case study.

b. Enhancing entrepreneurship: Huza a case study.

c. Providing women with the sense of "Economic autonomy"

5- Women universities an agent of political change

a. Proactive role in politics: Student union

b. Advocacy for women reforms in general: Pakistan a case study.

c. Women active role primordial for "Good Governance"

6- Reshaping health sector, Technological advancement and environment protection

a. Instrumental in population control.

b. Women universities imparting IT, AI courses.

21
c. Advocacy for reforms in climate change: A case study of Greta Thunberg.

7- Way forward

- a. Establishing more women universities in sub-urban areas.
- b. Women centric economic policy & incentives.
- c. Develop political culture conducive for women at national and global level.
- d. concerted ~~and~~ effort is the need to nullify stigma and taboo toward women education.

8- Conclusion.