

---

Teaching is the noblest of professions. A teacher has a sacred duty to perform. It is he on whom rests the responsibility of moulding the character of young children. Apart from developing their intellect, he can inculcate in them qualities of good citizenship, remaining neat and clean, talking decently and sitting properly. These virtues are not easy to be imbibed. Only he who himself leads a life of simplicity, purity and rigid discipline can successfully cultivate these habits in his pupils. Besides, a teacher always remains young. He may grow old in age, but not in spirit. Perpetual contact with budding youths keeps him happy and cheerful. There are moments when domestic worries weigh heavily on his mind, but the delightful company of innocent children makes him overcome his transient moods of despair.

(130 words)

Main Point

The highest form of profession is teaching. The highest teachers has the power to shape the child in the best way. For this, he has to be the epitome of simplicity, purity, and strict discipline. The ~~little~~ lively company of students keep him young and happy, making him forget the domestic issues.

(Words : 48)

Teacher: An Ideal Personality.