first briefly discuss the background situation of the society.

Reform movement of sheikh Ahmed Sirhindi.

Sheikh Ahmed Sirhindi's reform movement aimed to counter what he perceived as the religious syncretism and laxity in the practice of Islam during his time. He advocated for a return to the strict observance of Islamic principles and criticized certain practices that he believed deviated from the teachings of Islam.

One of the key aspects of Sheikh Ahmed Sirhindi's reform movement was his emphasis on the concept of tawhid (monotheism) and the idea of wāḥdat-al-wajūd (unity of existence). He stressed the absolute oneness and uniqueness of Allah and rejected any notion that could undermine this principle. His teachings influenced many Sufi orders and played a significant role in shaping the Sufi discourse in the Indian subcontinent.
