

mathal

Sometimes we do not see what we see

1/ Introduction

Thesis statement: Individuals hold different worldviews. ~~These~~ ^{that} worldviews are shaped by various factors ~~that~~ ^{ing} can lead to selective perception. However, by making constant ~~and~~ ^{CONSCIOUS} efforts, individuals can ~~broaden~~ ^{broaden} their perspectives.

2/ Crunch Paragraph → Better to give heading of what you are going to explain in this paragraph

3/ Factors that shape human perception

a, Nurturing in a certain environment ✓

b, Social norms influence one's perception ✓

(e.g. direct eye contact: respect^{ful} in some cultures and aggression in others) ^{rude}

c, Perception is based on experience ✓ ^{dominant}

d, Certain emotions shape one's perspective ✓

(i.e. Franz Kafka's writings are influenced by his negative emotions: sadness and despair)

e, Education plays a critical role in building perspectives ✓

4) The fallacy of selective perception

a, it leads to biased decision-making (For example, voting for a political candidate based on selective information)

b, it breeds resentment (e.g Islamophobia)

c, it hinders growth and advancement (case in point, Resistance of the Muslims of sub-continent to modern education and English language)

d, Poor problem-solving skills due to selective perception

e, It decrease creativity limits

5, How to overcome limitation of Perception?

a, Through ^{conscious analysis} awareness of one's own biases

b, Seeking diverse perspectives

c, Practicing empathy

6, Conclusion