"You cannot stop the future, You cannot rewind the past. The only way to learn the secret is to press play."

(Jay Asher)

Growth is not link with the past and future. Your learning experience from any obstacle shape your growth. In our society, traditionalist link the growth with the birth. It is a dreadful reality of our society. Keep in mind, the thoughts of mind change within the time. Within the time, you learn more the experience. Ultimately it will shape your growth. A powerful mind of any person have caliber to face the challenges of life. Your appearance and birth does not describes your success. An example of Hazrat Muhammad (S.A.W.W) who was born in the Family Arab, the people of Arabs were indulged in the bad activities. Despite of alot of difficulties, Hazrat Muhammad (S.A.W.W) do not push back from their goal. Hence, your consistency and cognitive abilities define your growth rather than birth.

'Growth is not interlinked with the birth of children. Physical features (such as) do not describes the success of an individual. The sharp cognitive abilities shapes one's future. These mental abilities are not interlinked with the personality of an individual. For example, a disabled person have more mental abilities than the normal person. Goal setting and passion are the centre core of success.

Birth

An example of Hazrat Muhammad (S.A.W.W) in the reign of ignorance. These are some prerequisites of growth such as hardworking, self belief and self fight. Another factor is proper counselling is a key factor of growth. However, make an organization which work very hard to boost the growth.

Your growth rate of life is not interlinked with the birth. Growth is defined as when you do hardwork to achieve goals. The obstacles are the part of life. The learning experience from obstacles makes your growth rather than birth. Birth can only give you name. For example, Hellen Keller was a person who was deaf blind by birth. But, their growth was not stop despite of their illness by birth.

The physical appearance of a person does not decide their success. Physical appearance ~~are~~ reflect your only physical features in the society. But these features does not defines your success in life. For example, a person whose body is full of hairy growth. He does not feel shy to come openly in the public place. He do their best to achieve their goals.

Cognitive abilities shapes your success. Every person is not intelligent by birth. Their mental abilities help them to combat with the problems. For example, if you have critical thinking, you can solve the problems very easily related to any thing.

A mindset determine one's growth. If an individual has strong mindset to combat with the problems regard to life. The success will not far away from him. For example, according to Cognitive development theories a growth mindset will ultimately achieve success. However, a static mindset will fail to achieve their goals.

Disabled person have more abilities than a normal person. A normal person observes things by their eye only. But in case of disabled person, he observes the things critically by their sharp cognitive abilities.

A passionate person has strong ambitions about life. He do not feel any hesitation to face the failures. While, these failure are the factors which boost their passion. These passions will make their goals as strong as they can.

An example of birth of Hazrat Muhammad (S.A.W.W) in the city of Makkah where people were indulged in the bad activities. These people were build so many difficulties in the path of Hazrat Muhammad (S.A.W.W). Despite of a lot of difficulties in the life of prophet, he (S.A.W.W) does not move back from their goal of life. A strong commitment with the goal of life defines a success. Hazrat Muhammad (S.A.W.W) was the best example in that regard.

"Without a goal, you cannot score."

(Johan Cruyff)

A strong perspective about your goal design your growth. Growth Goal means when someone is stuck to one point. Without goal, there is no life. Goal cannot achieve without a strong mindset. The verbal statement does not related with your long term goals. Hardworking is the key of success. Your A beautiful physical features does not describes a person success. If an individual do their best with consistency, ultimately reach their destination of life. For example, Abdul Sattar Edhi was a common person initially. But their hardwork with good attention regarding people makes a successful person in the world.

Self belief is just like you win the battle. The self belief is the main key component of life. Whatever kind of challenges comes in life. Your beliefs makes you how to combat with the challenges. Self belief is the centre core of life. For example, Muniba Meezari a person who face an extreme accident in their early age of life. But their self belief is makes her what she is now in the world.

Self fight is a key of growth. A success need demand fight against yourself. Every individual wants to waste their time. Every young person love to scroll on social media on daily bases. But these things are worthless. Fight against your self is a way forward to success.

Social Factors such as your friends and relatives does not define you what you are. Their opinions do not matter to you. For example, there are two types of frogs in a well. One Frog is unaware of ^{about} people what they are saying outside the well. So, frog tries their best to get out from the well. He did it. On the other hand, the other Frog was focus to listen the people which they are saying. He did not get out from well. He failed it. So, this is the same case in human race. Always try to best to achieve the goals by not focus on people opinions.

Proper counselling is a tool to trigger the growth of an individual. To the individual interest, passion and hardworking design their path towards success.

These things are required proper Counselling. Counselling is a Key to boost one's growth. For example, if some one wants to become a doctor. So, he should go to doctor for counselling not to engineer by profession. However, A proper counselling is required to boost your growth your life.

Make an organization which organize a campaign at regular intervals in a society. Organization play an important role in the society. Growth is relate with the basic ethics, behaviours and manners. We should make such an organization which tells about people the basic concept of growth.

Conduct a seminar at institution level who tells them how to improve your growth. Youth are the key important key of success or failure of a state. To empower the youth, it is important to conduct a seminar at institution levels. These seminars serves as a precursor for the growth of youth.

The individual should live a life according to Quran and Sunnah. Because, the crucial purpose of our life is live a life according to the orders of Allah (SWT). The growth of human life is linked with the orders of Allah (SWT). It is our essential duty that we should follow the orders of Allah (SWT).

Learn from mistakes is a centre core to improve growth. Mistakes are the part of life. Mistakes shapes your personality. Experiences are makes your life.
