

Sentence Correction

1. I am looking forward to see you on Monday.
 - I am looking forward to see you at Monday.
2. How many students are ready to give the test today?
 - How much students are ready to give today's test?
3. I contacted my five colleagues but all of them did not respond.
 - I contacted my five colleagues but none of them did not respond.
4. I am tired and would not rather go out this evening.
 - I am tired and may be not go out this evening.
5. Our economical situation is worsening day by day.
 - Our economic situation is worsening day by day.
6. One can find useful information about eating nutritiously on the internet.
 - One can find useful information about eating nutritious on the internet.
7. I couldn't found you there yesterday.
 - I could not find you there yesterday.
8. Orphaned in infancy, he was brought about by his grandparents.
 - Orphan in infancy, he is brought up by his grandparents.

Prepositions

1. What can be the reason of his absence?
2. You won't be able to bring him on his knees.
3. I was utterly unaware of the looming threat.
4. Please remind me in the meeting next week.
5. We shouldn't give them to such pressure tactics.
6. Heavy rains are generally preceded after violent winds.
7. Did you pay the bill in cash?
8. I agreed with his revised plan.