○ Pakistan's Coalition Government Welcomes IMF Bailout Approval

Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif has expressed his happiness with the approval of the IMF bailout, calling it a "major step forward" for his coalition government's efforts to stabilize the economy and achieve macroeconomic stability. He believes that the agreement will strengthen Pakistan's economic position, helping them overcome immediate and medium-term economic challenges. Finance Minister Ishaq Dar also shared optimism, stating that things are now moving in the right direction. Analysts believe that the approval of the IMF bailout is beneficial for Pakistan because it might encourage other international financial institutions to provide help in overcoming economic challenges. The approval for the IMF loan came after Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates made significant contributions by depositing $2 billion and $1 billion, respectively, into Pakistan's central bank. As a result of the IMF deal, Pakistan's sovereign dollar bonds experienced an increase in value.
