

TV Commercials Content and Viewers Reaction

Often TV's breaks are showing very unrealistic contents that force people to criticize them. Let's take some examples like commercial of energy drink shows how energy transfer in a player and who start scoring, a very unreal situation of manager for mere some cookies and many strange commercial of martial life are just making people hired. Embassadors of these product are doing all this stupid things to promote product but de facto, these are just watched as a source of laughter or as some unavoidable disturbance.
