Q.3

Answer: Introduction

"The 18th Amendment
is a real shape of
the 1973 constitution."

(Raza Rabbani)

The 18th Amendment put soul in the constitution of 1973. However, an opinion is prevailing that some of subjects handed over to the provinces in the 18th Amendment, should be handed over back to the centre. There is need as doctrine of necessity to hand over back some subjects for effective governance. Therefore, some provincial subjects must be handed over to the centre.

2- A bird's eye view of the 18th Amendment and of the constitution of 1973

The 18th Amendment

is an essence of the constitution of Pakistan.

(Raza Rabbani)

The 18th Amendment put an essence to the constitution of 1973. In fact, it improved center-provinces relations by handing over some subjects to provinces.

An overview of the 18th Amendment

Thus, the 18th Amendment paved a way for center-province bond.

- 3- Subjects that must be handed over to the center

Following are subj:

ects:

- a) Provincial autonomy in managing provincial responsibility

Provincial autonomy is given at peak. In fact, the purpose was to improve centre-province relations.

- The 18th amendment handed over 36 subjects to respective provinces

(The 18th Amendment
of the constitution of 1973)

However, these subjects be given back to centre because,

"Abuse of provincial autonomy and politicising view has affected inclusive governance."

(Tayyab Hussain)

Policitising in Pakistan, 2012

Thus, provincial autonomy must be kept under supremacy of centre.

b) Right to education

Further, right to education is also in hands of provinces. Provincial hegemony causes inequality in education.

"Sindh has own right to education and the SNC can not be implemented in Sindh."

(Mazed Ali Shah,
former CM of Sindh)

In consequence, quality of education is affected on the name of politicking. Therefore, right of education should be prevailed equally.

c) Right of healthcare system

Furthermore, provinces are also allowed in health rights.

Every province has right of managing own provincial hospitals.

* PM's National Health

card is rejected by Sindh and KPK

on the name of

provincial supremacy -

(Sohrat Hussain)

Politicizing, 2017)

Thus, right of health is also under the writ of politicking and must be handed over to the centre.

d) Resources shared responsibility

Moreover, resources are also shared among provinces. In fact, the NFC Award was issued to share resource among provinces.

"Sindh claims a major share of resources due to the name of a major revenue collector."

(Taqdeer Hussain)

(Gangs Controversy, 2023)

Therefore, it results conflicts among provinces and centre. As a result, governance principles get disturbance.

Hence, centre must have authority over resources share.

e) Use of emergency

Use of emergency is also under assent of province. In any case, the centre remains dependent on provinces for emergency.

* According to the Article 234, Governor General can impose emergency in provinces with the assent of CM."

(The 13th Amendment)

Therefore, politicking and divergences supersede centre on the name of provincial authority.

4- Critical Analysis

* Provincial autonomy is caught in politicking.

(Taqeer Hussain)

The 18th Amendment gave a supreme authority to provinces. In fact, it was for inclusive governance. But, unfortunately, provincial autonomy is abused for personal interests rather than national interests.

"Provinces are divided on personal interests, neglecting national mission."

(Muhammad Ali)

Therefore, abuse of some subjects have given opinions on return of subjects.

5- Conclusion

1. The 18th Amendment as a backbone of Pakistan.

(Riaz Rabbani)

The 18th Amendment is an essence of Pakistan. However, several opinions are suggested for rev.

erse of provincial subjects. Because, these subjects are misused for politicking. Therefore, some subjects should be handed over to provinces.
