

The necessity of, and resistance to, 'old-age homes' in our society.

1. Introduction of old-age homes and their purpose.
2. How old-age homes contribute to our society. needs
3. The necessity of old-age homes in our society.

a) Availability of medical staff 24/7

b) Blending of same age group in the need of companionship.

c) Age-demanding health care and food facilities.

d) Parents-children difference of mindsets leading to incompatibility/conflicts.

e) Lack of emotional availability of children due to their busy schedules.

4. Why resistance of old-age homes exists in our society.

- a) Social pressure associated with leaving the parents alone.
- b) Religious norms to take care of old people.
- c) Old-age homes as a taboo in our society.
- d) The believe belief on 'Karma factor'.
- e) Financial constraint of old-age homes.

5. How the concept of old-age homes can be made acceptable by society.

- a) Creating awareness regarding old-age homes
- b) Financial aid funding by the govt.
- c) Breaking the stereotypes in the society.
- d) Creating home-like environment for old-people.

c) Learning that its better to leave old people in shelters rather than making conflicts.

6- Conclusion.