always remained a cornerstone in international relations. The dynamics of world order make increasingly distant. The contemporary landscape is marked by geopolitical tensions, economic disparities and nationalistic agendas. Despite through diplomatic negotiations, multilateral and peacekeeping missions, this seems to be a challenging world order. The universal peace remains a formidable but crucial ambition for the stability and progress of humanity.

Geo-political tensions and the arms race national power struggles for resources often lead to conflicts of 2 tensions on global scale. The analysis will only show the global power balance but also significant conflicts that revolute on geo-political frontal scale. Competition over strategic resources such as energy reserves, water and territorial become a flashpoint.
The struggle for influence coupled with differing ideologies and ambitions, fuels a cycle of distrust & competition among nations. The geopolitical tensions is the power dynamics leading peace.

Economic disparities are far reaching they are all significant growth propelling and the population may not have reached resources or opportunities to contribute economy. Disparities can lead political tensions and social progress. Economic disparities can lead to multitude of issues. Disparities can lead to resources of poor & contribute to unequal access to education and health care. A global level economic disparities can lead to the strikingly developed or develop countries. Develop or underdeveloped countries are often facing with poverty, education, lack of access and health education infrastructure and low job opportunities.
economic opportunities.

The social and cultural differences divide a social and religious ideologies that creates the spread around the diversity of societal & ideologies thoughts and identity of human misunderstandings. The different groups of world guide purporting social, cultural and ideological clashes and friction. This ideological can lead to violence on a global world order. The clashes btw differing values can escalate into social tension and animosity can be seen as historical contemporary. These differences demand a respectful dialogue which efforts to foster tolerance, and global human experience.

The evolving threats in a global warfare is the main conflict by religious ethics, in various regions which challenge to global peace in world order. Addressing <sup>evolving</sup> threats in armed conflicts that go beyond the strategies approaches by multilateral. The evolving threats which emphasize the diplomacy in international cooperation, while the humanitarian aid and supporting the root causes of conflicts which becomes more crucial and risks to become become warfare dynamics.

On the other hand, armed conflicts are undergoing a hybrid warfare which presents challenges. One of the evolving threats of armed conflicts is rise of terrorism. The state and non-state actors such as terrorist or cyber attacks are conventional against the military forces. The terrorist attacks is to the challenge more powerful adversaries, while the increasing line between hybrid of state warfare are combatant domains. It also involves in the military and irregular force to the propaganda against strategic objectives and challenges. Furthermore the cyber technology is far used in attacks like cyber security and autonomous weapons. The cyber attack is the emergence of new battlegrounds. In artificial intelligence the use of drones and cyberspace is an autonomous weapons. The emergence of new drones and proliferation led to battlegrounds. These technologies strategic advantages, and can be used for both civilian and infrastructure. Moreover these conflicts by geo-political rivalries which divides persist globally, which conflicted complex
