2 Differentiate between gender studies and women's studies. Discuss in detail the multidisciplinary nature of gender studies.

Introduction:

women studies and gender studies are mixed with each other by the people but they are two separate fields of studies. women studies emerged as discipline in 1960s, as a result of feminist activism. On the other hand gender studies emerged as a discipline in late 1990s, tracing its roots to women studies studies of sexuality, and the increasing interest in rights of Gays, Lesbians and the transgender community. So all of the communities combine together on the foundation of gender studies. There is also difference in nature and scope of both the disciplines.

An overview of women studies

Till late 1960s, disciplines ignored the contributions of women in many field. Disciplines like sociology and social sciences did not recognize or acknowledge women, their experiences, contributions and issues. which means that these disciplines were gender blind.

These subjects were ~~men~~ centered.
~~which is~~ It means that was the of Androcentrism.

Androcentrism:

do not use one word headings.

It the ~~presence of~~ prevalence of masculine point of. Like it was man centred worldview. Androcentr-ism exist everywhere and in every field of study at that time women were ignored during that time. Since women were in disadvantage position in many fields.
That was the time 1860s when women gathered in the form of Feminist activism and raised their voice on every available forum.
So many discipline starts to pay attention to women specially, women socialists. They started to focus on the issues of gender inequalities, and tried to fill the gaps in knowledge which were present due to male bias.

they should be elaborate and self explanatory.

Emergence of women studies as a discipline

women studies emerged as a subject in 1970s. Although the first course ~~on~~ on women studies started in 1868 in
