

CSS 2003

Do not reproduce the list. Just give its gist.

Indent the paragraph.

University: An Institute for Raising Moral Beings

According to the Author, the end goal of any University should be transforming the individuals so that they ^{may} ~~can~~ fit in the society. Universities are not ~~a~~ places which ^{create} ~~that~~ heroes, leaders, warriors or poets nor they make any professionalist. Rather universities are places that ^{cultivate} ~~an~~ individual ^{minds} ~~mind~~, develop their natural senses, motivate them, teach them the difference between right and wrong and enhance their mental capabilities. ^{Long sentence. Break it down into two sentences.} so that they could channelize ~~the~~ convey their ~~opini~~ views and seek truth. These institutes help the individuals to focus on what is important and ignore what is not. However, these universities also help individuals to make the choice of field they ^{pursue} and equip them in joining the desirable post they seek to join.

Total words of original piece: 326
Piece words = $\frac{326}{3} - 109$

Written Piece words = 118.

Avoid cutting. Subject verb disagreement found. Revise the rules of present indefinite tense.