Information Technology: A blessing or curse

1. Introduction:

Thesis statement: Information Technology proves both as a blessing and a curse for human but it depends upon its uses. It proves more as a blessing than a curse. Because Information Technology opens the many doors of trade ; extends the applications of communication ; and also enhances the level of education.

Your stance is that it is a blessing. So show your stance in the very first sentence of thesis statement

2. How is Information Technology emerging as a powerful tool?

3. Information Technology is beneficial for human - being.

   a) Information Technology provides security and maintains privacy of human man.

   b) It helps to improve the level of education

   c) Information Technology upgrades economy and increases GDP growth

   d) Health sector is improving because of new technology.

   What's the role of information technology in health?

   e) Agriculture sector is advance by using Information technology

4. Human suffers from many problems just because of Information Technology

  a) Information Technology effects privacy of a person (Threat for security of nation because of I.T)

  b) Students faces problems in practical life because of lack of technical/ critical thinking.

  c) It proves a burden on economy because of high cost.

  d) Diseases increase because of harmful radiation that emit from Technology.

  e) Farmers cannot bear high-cost technology

5- Information Technology proves more as a blessing than a curse.

  a) Security of a state becomes effective by controlling its negative uses.

  b) Through Information Technology students must be able to stand with glob

  c) High cost but only paying gives long-time benefits

  d) Curing every disease become possible because of Information Technology

The topic is information technology not just technology

e) Our dependency of economy on agriculture needs advancement to fulfill our needs

6- Conclusion.

Phrase it properly