

Sir Syed Ahmed Khan was born in 1817. His philosophy, objectives of his movement, his services (educational, religious, political) and impact of his Aligarh Movement were associated with the Mughal Empire Court in Delhi.

Sir Syed got his early education at home. He got religious education at home which was a custom at that time.

He also used to attend literary meetings where he had a chance to meet some famous poets like Mirza Ghalib.

Sir Syed's mother was a very pious and intellectual woman.

She raised her child well.

She wanted to make Sir Syed's moral values so high, ~~so~~ that he could be a good man in future.

Once Sir Syed slapped the servant of his home. When his mother came to know about this, he banished Sir Syed from home and did not allow him to come home until he apologized ^{the} to servant.

Sir Syed's father died when ^{was} he was very young. This ^{led} led to ~~the~~ take burden of his home's responsibilities ~~to his side~~. He got a job of junior clerk.

Sir Syed made ~~a~~ huge reforms in educational services during the post war of independence ~~era~~. ~~The post-war era~~ ^{was of} During the post-independence era, ^{and weak} the morale of Muslims was so down. The political, economic and social positioning of ~~Muslim~~.

Mistakes identified. Avoid cutting. Ended abruptly.