Communication is the very core of our society. That's what makes (Jan Koun). Communication is human instinct of human nature. They cannot sustain without interacting with each other. Humans are interacting since their inception on earth by difference mediums of Communication. In present era there are several social media apps which provides easy and swift platforms to fulfill their requirement to hookup with folks, but, nevertheless, social media lacks the potential to fulfill the emotional requirement of a person. It is widely accepted that social media has influenced the real life communication. Although, it's a tool that allow swift way to communicate, but it has not overghadowed the real life communication. Amid the flood of so many social media apps, it is still abloating. Social media has not overly penetrated as it fails to accomplish emotional requirement students as well as business persons donot prefeers virtual environment, while concerns related to cyber security is another reason to not overly depend on social media. But to some people social media has over-came real life communication. As it provides easy way to communicate, provide platform to discuss as well as learn from anywhere; besides it, these platforms are bound to secure your data too. However, in between a lot of social media platforms, real communication still abloating. People preferably likes to meet instead of textings. More oftenly the physical business runs for long as the social media platforms has still several loop holes to cover up.
