Title Manto's writings: Exposing the harsh realities

Manto was a target of hypocrites.

The critics of Manto pushed him into legal cases, calling his writings indecent. Despite of hindrances, he continued writing about the harsh realities of life. He explored <sup>not</sup> sex in the context of pleasure but as a mandatory or ritual practice and showed deep concern for poor of society and sex workers. According to Manto, man possess both good and bad qualities. His writings decently addressed ~~all~~ important social and moral problems.

He had deep understanding about human behaviour; and nothing distressed him more than dual nature of humans.

Moreover, he carefully presented facts without being immoral and people found their problems well-presented.
