

Batch 348

Précis 2011

There is something common in multifarious psychological causes of unhappiness. A common unhappy man gets so narrow-minded and gives all importance to the satisfaction that he had not gotten over others. Nowadays man feels so disappointed that prefers diversion and ignorance over satisfaction. He just admires pleasure in passing life and opts for being unconscious to escape unhappiness. The narcissist and megalomaniac believe in the possibility of happiness through negative means. Man prefers obliviousness to pursue intoxication. Primarily convince unhappy man that happiness is desirable, only a few consciously prefer unhappiness. Generally wise people who have gone through all excitements are proudly and genuinely unhappy. Believe it's a natural and rational attitude. Less entitled people are doubtful about it. They believe that man satisfied with unhappiness is not unhappy.

Total words: 130