

What does Pakistan need the most:

Charter of Democracy or Charter of Economy?

Outline:

1) Introduction

Thesis Statement: Recent crises in Pakistan has challenged the form of system. With debates going on whether democracy or economy; which suited the most. However, by sticking to Charter of Democracy, it will ensure economic, social and technological prosperity in the country.

2) Overview of democracy and Economy

3) Pakistan needs the Charter of Democracy the most. (Thesis)

a) Charter of Democracy ensures political stability in the country.

b) Ensures grant of fundamental rights to every citizen.

c) Equitable distribution of wealth and resources.

d) Decentralization: of power and empowerment of local bodies.

e) Promotes development in the social and economic sphere of the country.

4) Why Pakistan needs the Charter of Economy? (Anti-thesis)

- a) Provides economic prosperity in the country.
- b) Economic rights and privileges to reduce poverty and unemployment.
- c) Focus on better trade policies and taxation system.
- d) Decision making by higher authorities ensuring strict compliance.
- e) Economic development ensures technological development.

5) Pakistan only need the Charter of Democracy in the country (Synthesis)

- a) With Political stability comes economic stability in the country.
- b) Provision of fundamental rights to every citizen.
- c) Democracy promotes equality ^{in the system} where as economic system paves the way for capitalism.
- d) Charter of Democracy promotes consensus based system avoids monopoly.
- e) Enables progressive development in every sphere of the country.

6) Conclusion